

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. THIRD EDITION—SEASON 1877.

[ENTERED AT STATIONERS' HALL.]

LONDON:
EDWARD STANFORD, 55 CHARING CROSS.

1877.

Gough Add! London
8th Htt. 6.

EXPLANATION.

Abbreviations.— M. for Minutes.
St. „ Street.
Sta. „ Station.

Reference—Routes.—Omnibus and Coach Blue.
Tramway . . Red.
Steamboat . . Blue, dotted.
Railway . . Black.

Objects of Interest.—Red numbers, except 1 to 30, reserved for Tramway Routes.

Example.—A person at Notting Hill wishes to visit the Bethnal Green Museum, or vice versa. The General Index, page viii, directs him, under the title “Place,” to Class 5, where he finds that Notting Hill (the Place) is in Square E 2 of the Map (being where a line drawn from “E,” at either side, intersects a line traced from “2,” at top or bottom, of the Map). By a similar process he discovers the “Museum” in Class 3, and in Square C 8 of the Map. On it he observes, passing the Museum, the Tramway route, No. 11 (red), which takes him to Whitechapel Road (Square D 8), where he sees that Route No. 18 (blue) is the right Omnibus amongst those passing, because such No. 18 is also at Notting Hill. Whilst the repetition of these numbers enables him to trace the whole route on the Map (the fares show it in the book), reference to the same numbers in the book shows him the colour and name of the right Tramway and Omnibus, and gives him Times and Fares; and reference to the Museum furnishes Time and Price of Admission, and other information.

The routes are described from outside to centre, and proceed in numerical order round the Map, commencing with Pimlico.

The Map shows the various conveyances, whether by Omnibus, Tramway, Steamer, or Railway, to every part. In order to afford the same information direct by the book, without reference to the Map, the different routes applicable are added to the Objects of interest (Class 1 to 4), or (to save repetition) to the Places (Class 5) in which they are situate, where the Place contains more than one Object.

Omnibuses and Tramways generally run in the early morning and late afternoon, for business men, more frequently than at the intervals stated, whilst, in the middle of the day, the succession is slower, for the dinner of drivers and conductors. The intervals, therefore, “every M” are about those stated.

Directions to localities should be sought at shops, or of policemen, in preference to passing strangers.

By the adoption of classification (embracing alphabetical arrangement and reference), every instance of each Object of interest is readily found. For example, under the head of Boating (an Amusement, Class 1), all places for it are at once seen.

In order to ensure accuracy, personal inquiry has been adopted throughout. But changes will occasionally occur. With a view to notify these and additional attractions in subsequent issues, the Publisher will feel obliged by early information.

The red Nos. of objects on the Map follow consecutive order in the book, except the following:—
